Meet Emily

Emily primarily focuses on representing buyers and sellers in residential transactions, including drafting, reviewing, and negotiating purchase and sale agreements and confirming lenders' mortgage commitments.

Outside the Office

In the summertime Emily loves exploring New England and soaking up as much sun as possible at the beach. In the colder months Emily spends more time indoors with friends, crafting or reading a good book. Emily has recently taken up calligraphy and loves to travel.

Background

Before joining the team at Ligris, and during law school, Emily worked at a local law firm where she aided in the research and drafting of documents for business litigation cases. While at Northeastern, Emily was a Student Ambassador for the law school. She worked with the admissions office to give tours, answer prospective/admitted student questions and traveled to her alma mater in Florida to represent the law school at their annual law school fair.
