Meet Kosta

Kosta is the founder of Ligris, he now serves as a strategic advisor to the firm and a member of the Board of Directors. During his fifteen year tenure as Managing Partner, his practice concentrated on residential and commercial real estate transactions; he represented buyers, sellers, and developers in the acquisition, sale and development of residential and commercial real estate. Kosta also serves in a general counsel capacity for certain investors and developers by providing guidance on various legal matters and coordinating representation with other lawyers and law firms. Kosta has significant experience in condominium developments, representing developers in drafting condominium documents and marketing condominium projects.

Kosta has advised banks, lenders and real estate firms regarding regulatory compliance with state and federal laws and regulations involving residential transactions and lending, including the Truth in Lending and RESPA Integrated Disclosure Rule (commonly known as TRID or "Know Before You Owe"), the American Land Title Association's Best Practices, cyber-security, and other relevant industry challenges and changes.

Kosta obtained his MBA from MIT's Sloan School of Management, his interests and projects focus on innovation, strategy, and cyber-security especially as it relates to the real estate, title, mortgage and settlement/closing verticals. He has presented on panels and as a keynote speaker on technology and innovation in the legal, real estate and title industries. Kosta is an Entrepreneur in Residence at The Martin Trust Center for MIT Entrepreneurship and is actively involved in the startup, FinTech and PropTech innovation ecosystems.

Kosta lives in Boston, Massachusetts and speaks fluent Greek and is proficient in French and Italian. He is frequently involved in charitable fundraising for local, regional and national causes. Kosta has served for over a decade on the Benefactor Committee for the annual TomorrowNite Gala benefiting the children of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Kosta serves on the Board of Overseers, Overseers Executive Council, Campaign Committee, and the Neuroscience Advisory Committee at the Beth Israel Lahey Medical Center, a Harvard Medical School teaching hospital and the official hospital for his beloved Boston Red Sox. Attorney Ligris also serves on the Dean's Cabinet at his alma mater Suffolk University Law School in Boston which advises the Dean of the Law School. He has also served on the Law

School's alumni Board of Directors.

Outside the Office

I enjoy traveling both for work and pleasure. I'm a movie buff, news and politics junkie, football fan, art lover and foodie! Love reading books and recently have taken up photography. Follow me on Instagram as @esquirelens

Background

Before founding Ligris, Kosta was an associate attorney at a transactional law firm in greater Boston, focusing on residential and commercial real estate matters. His real estate experience includes several years as a real estate broker with Coldwell-Banker Hunneman Real Estate (presently Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage). Prior to focusing on transactional matters, Kosta operated a general practice with specific experience in criminal defense, permitting, representation before administrative boards, and civil litigation. He has served as co-counsel on selected dispute related matters typically involving contract disputes, real estate matters or other transaction related litigation.

Why Kosta?

Kosta is a lawyer's lawyer, having represented countless lawyers and real estate professionals in their own personal transactions. He takes great pride in being able to identify the substantive issues and set aside the noise. His background, experience and reputation give his clients an advantage, eliminating the need to re-invent the wheel. His educator qualities allow him to present complex issues clearly, outlining options and risks for his clients. Kosta was selected by Poets & Quants as one of the top executive MBA students in 2018, representing his alma mater, MIT's Sloan School of Management.
