Meet Matt

Matt specializes in all aspects of commercial and residential real estate matters, working with lenders, private individuals, and developers in the financing, leasing, and conveyancing of residential and commercial real estate. Matt takes a collaborative approach to working with clients, as well as their real estate brokers and lenders. He believes in working with the client as a partnership throughout the transaction – discussing not just the potential legal issues, but the property as a whole – all while serving as a counselor to the client and team.

Matt is a native of Wayland, Massachusetts and currently resides in Boston.

Outside the Office

In his free time, Matt is an avid tennis player, and enjoys spending time on the beach at Cape Cod with his family and dog, Cody.

Community Involvement

Volunteer and Supporter, Horizons for Homeless Children

Volunteer and Supporter, Combined Jewish Philanthropies

Hebrew School Teacher, various local temples

Background

Prior to joining the firm, Matt worked at Duane Morris LLP, a large nationally recognized law firm, where he represented individuals and corporations in a variety of litigation, corporate, and real estate matters. Following that, he worked at Anderson & Kreiger, representing individuals, developers, and municipalities in real estate matters.
