Meet Mick

Michael (Mick) P. Judge is a seasoned family law attorney who brings nearly two decades of experience to helping restructured families navigate complex legal challenges. Known for his balanced approach—compassionate when needed, assertive when required—Mick is a trusted advocate for individuals facing critical life transitions. His clients value his ability to lead with empathy while delivering results through skillful negotiation and litigation.

Background

Mick's practice covers the full spectrum of domestic relations and probate litigation, including divorce, custody, child and spousal support, property division, adoption, and domestic violence matters. He also works closely with clients on pre-divorce planning and drafting prenuptial and postnuptial agreements. In more complex cases involving business valuations, inheritance disputes, or relocation, Mick brings deep experience and a steady hand to the table.

In addition to his litigation work, Mick is a certified Conciliator and regularly appointed by the Massachusetts Trial Court as a Special Master, Attorney for Children, and Parent Coordinator—testament to the respect he has earned within the legal community. Before joining Ligris, Mick was a partner at Casner & Edwards.
